

Economic issues to be basis of PC, Liberal campaigns

Scott, Logan both stressing the need to attract small business and industry to strengthen economic base

Economic issues will take precedence in the campaign to win a seat in the riding of Victoria-Haliburton, the Liberal and Conservative candidates revealed in interviews this week.

Bill Scott, incumbent Conservative M.P., who is seeking his fifth consecutive term in the election May 22, and Liberal candidate David Logan, a lawyer and former mayor of Lindsay said in interviews this week that improving the local economy would be their main concern if they get the nod from voters.

Commenting on the issues from his home in Kinmount, Scott said Monday that national unity would be an issue in the federal campaign, and that it is an issue "of concern to all Canadians."

He said the most significant impact of the separatist movement in Quebec has been on the economy. "It has effected our economy ever since Rene Levesque came to power, and not only since he gained power; since he started to show promise of forming a government in Quebec," Scott said.

The Conservative party hopes to restore "a sense of building to Canada, and to give Canadians a stake in the development of their own country," Scott said.

"That is and will remain the major thrust of policies for Canada."

"I think we should help Canadians own a home, expand a business and participate in the ownership of their resources," he said.

'I don't want a mudslinging campaign' - Scott

Locally, Scott said, "we have to have more help for the small business man. I believe in encouraging the small business man, where possible, to locate in the smaller communities."

"We have to give a stimulus, in my opinion, to encourage these people, and we have a plan for that. At the same time I have to be realistic about this. Industry depends on industry, but we can pick many industries that can survive and be very profitable in the smaller communities."

"Where applicable," Scott said, "I'd like to see DREE apply. I don't say DREE is the whole solution to our industry throughout the country, but I'd like to see DREE apply especially to the northern part of this riding."

Asked about the present situation in the riding Scott said he felt conditions here were better than those in the average riding "taking our terrain and our geographical position into consideration."

"In 1973-74, when figures were available for me, on a per capita basis, we were probably, in respect to the number of unemployed people, better than most rural ridings of Canada."

He noted that during the 13 years he has been in office, he has seen both the tourism and the lumbering industry in the county grow.

"I've watched chaps like Martin Lumber grow," Scott said. "We've gained industry in Lindsay. We've gained some smaller industry scattered throughout the riding."

"I'd have to say too that our agricultural industry has improved."

Scott said he was looking for "A co-operative campaign" in the riding. "I don't like a mudslinging campaign. I don't want a mudslinging campaign. I hope for a good clean-cut campaign and we'll deal with the issues."

Scott who was first elected in 1965, declined to comment on whether this campaign would be his last.

From his home in Lindsay, Liberal hopeful David Logan said Tuesday morning that from the beginning, he has maintained "that the economy here is of major concern," and in order to be able to deal with it, we are going to have to get a greater number of employment opportunities or jobs from a secondary manufacturing process. And these types of jobs have to be compatible with the environment in order to ensure pollution control so that we don't disturb or ruin our tourist industry."

"Unfortunately," he said, "the fact that we have had stronger members of parliament to the south in the city ridings," means that "nearly everything we produce here is shipped out to be processed in somebody else's riding."

Logan said the riding representative will have to be "very forceful in the future both in the House of Commons and in the committees in order to try and stop and reverse this trend."

"We have to think of ways and means of bringing more money into the area, and if we don't do it, then the same thing is going to continue that has been going on for the past number of years, and that is where all the people who come out of the school system have to, almost in mass, leave the area if they are going to get some kind of employment."

'They've outthustled us, and we're going to have to start outthustling them'

"I don't see any reason why everything has to be processed in somebody else's area," he said.

Candidate spending is limited by new Election Act change

Limits on election spending, disclosure of contributors' names and a system of partial reimbursement of expenses to political candidates are among a number of changes in the Election Act that will apply to the upcoming Federal election.

It is the first time a limit has been imposed on election spending.

The limit will be established by a formula which depends on the number of names on the preliminary lists of electors in a district. The basic formula is $1 per name for the first 15,000 names, 50 cents for the next 10,000 names and 25 cents for every name over 25,000.

In Victoria - Haliburton, with a little over 50,000 eligible voters, the formula limits candidates to expenditures of between $26,000 and $27,000.

As well, spending limits have been placed on registered political parties. Each party is limited in spending to 30 cents for each name on the preliminary list of electors of all the electoral districts where the party has endorsed official candidates.

Parties and candidates will also be eligible for reimbursement for the first time. In a district where there are 50,000 names, on preliminary lists a candidate would receive a maximum of $10,500. The candidate would receive 14 cents per name, plus eight cents for each of the first 25,000 names and six cents for the remaining 25,000 names, or a total of $10,500.

To qualify for reimbursement, a candidate has to be elected or obtain 15 percent of the votes. The disqualification rule also applies to the $200 deposit a candidate has to put up to run for office.

Intent of the new legislation, according to the government, is to curtail large spending by wealthy candidates and parties and to make it more practical for those of lesser financial means to run for office.

Spending limits for candidates will be determined at least 30 days prior to polling day, and the candidates will

NDP nominates Ottawa man for local riding

A 51-year-old Minden area landowner has won the NDP nomination for the riding of Victoria-Haliburton.

Patrick Daniel won the nomination unopposed last Sunday at a nomination meeting at the Legin Hall in Lindsay.

Daniel, head of the English department at Sir John A. MacDonald High School in Ottawa, holds a B.A. from the University of Toronto, an M.A. from the University of Chicago, and an M.A. from the University of London, England.

Daniel owns 140 acres of land at RR 2, Minden, including a cottage and a tree farm.

Daniel's wife is also a teacher, and the couple have a son and a daughter.

According to Ted Starr, member of NDP association, Daniel sought the nomination in this area because he considers his Minden property as a retirement residence.

It looked more like January than April last Friday as a snow storm swept through Ontario and blanketed the Highlands in heavy wet snow. Limbs brought down by high winds caused power outages across the county.

New factors could hurt residential taxpayers

Tax reforms inadequate Dysart council contends

Residential property owners in Dysart will pay an unfair proportion of taxes in the near future if assessment equalization factors to be announced in July cause apportionments to rise.

That is the opinion of Dysart et al council which Monday told regional assessment officer, Ivor James that unless assessment based on market value is applied to all property, residential landowners will be hard hit when apportionments increase.

The government has come up with a plan to adjust assessment within property classes (residential, commercial, industrial, farm and vacant land) in a move to get rid of inequities within the classes. But it is not going to adjust total overall assessment based on market value, even though it has the figures with which to do so. And Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearney is dissatisfied with the government's position.

James, along with four other officials from the Regional Assessment office, told council that reforms under section 86 of the Assessment Act would remove inequities within particular property classes, but that total overall assessment within the municipality would not change.

What James called "the whole terrible fiasco" of taxation reform began in 1970, when the province took over assessment from the municipalities. At that time, then provincial treasurer, D'Arcy McKeough proposed assessing properties at market value. But the likelihood of major (and unpopular) tax shifts made the province back off from full Market Value Assessment (MVA). Implementing MVA would have meant "political suicide" for the government, according to James.

The newest plan, equalized assessment, "doesn't change anything," James said. "It just gets rid of some inequities within tax classes."

To arrive at an equalized assessment within a property class, the assessment office takes the 1975 market value of all properties in that class and divides the figures into the total present assessment (which has been frozen since 1970, and which is in almost all cases, well below market value). The resulting percentage is then applied to each property, so that in theory, every property owner is assessed at the same percentage of market value.

For example, James said, if the total residential assessment in a municipality is $1 million, and the actual market value of those properties is $10 million, the equalization factor within the class would be 10 percent. And every property owner would then be assessed at ten percent of 1975 market value.

The weakness in the system, as far as Dysart council is concerned, is that total assessments within classes will not change. If there is an inequity between residential and commercial, or residential and vacant lands assessment, it will not be removed.

Council feels the assessments for some kinds of property are not accurate, because they do not reflect the increased market value of those properties in recent years. Particularly in the case of vacant land, assessments are thought to be too low. The result is a taxation system in which residential property owners are faced with the bulk of any tax increases.

In July, according to James, the province will

Snow storm breaks limbs, causes power interruptions across county

Power was cut off for up to five hours in several areas of the county Friday as high winds and wet snow brought trees and branches down on power lines.

Alec Godin, area line foreman for Hydro's Minden district, said Tuesday that trouble began very early Friday morning as the storm swept into the area.

At one point some 1,500 customers in the Minden area were without power, and it took more than five hours for crews to isolate and repair the damage.

Periodic interruptions in many areas of the county were the result of "switching and sectioning to find problems," according to Godin.

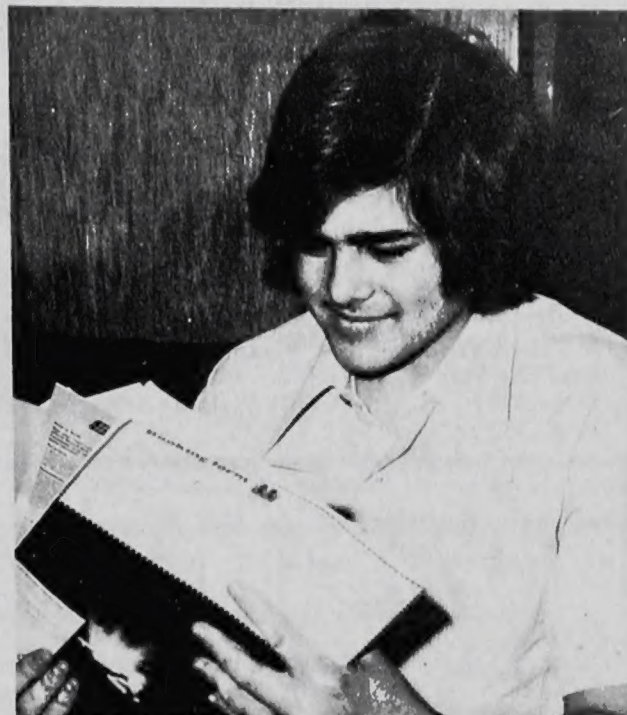

Some 2,200 customers in the Hall's Lake area were without power for a short time early Friday morning, and problems were also reported in the Tory Hill and Gooderham area, Godin said.

Most outages were the result of tree limbs falling and breaking wires. Three poles were snapped off by falling limbs and trees.

By Tuesday, crews were completing cleanup operations across the county, and Godin said more reports of broken poles could come in as cottagers returning to their properties discover storm-caused damage.

"Oh wow! Oh Wow! was Randy Grant's reaction to a phone call from Roy Bates, on Saturday night, informing him that he was the winner of the Snowarama - Air Canada trip for 2 anywhere in the world served by the airline. Randy's name was one of the thousands of those who participated in the Whipper Watson Snowarama all over Ontario. The draw was made at the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs annual meeting. At 13, the youngest entrant competing from Haliburton, Randy completed the entire course raising $166 for the charity which is locally sponsored each year by the Rotary Club. Randy hasn't yet decided where to go, but says "maybe Japan or California."

Economic outlook grim, Rotary hears

Canada will not face an all out recession this year, but the economy "will come very close to achieving recession status."

That was the sobering news members of the Haliburton Rotary club heard last Thursday in a speech by James S. Brydon, Commercial Marketing Manager for eastern and northern Ontario divisions of the Bank of Montreal.

"1979 looks like the slackest economic year for Canada since 1965," Brydon said, elaborating on Bank of Montreal economists' projections for the balance of the year.

The projections, "are at variance with the mainstream of projections from other economic seers," but are being confirmed by data from the first quarter of the year, Brydon said.

"Both consumer spending and capital goods spending will slow and continue to remain slow throughout the year," Brydon said. "In short, we are looking at a real economic growth rate of between 2 and 2½ percent."

The bad news for people involved in retail sales is that when growth slows, so does spending. People in the wholesale and retail trade "can look for lower sales," Brydon said.

He blamed the expected decline in purchasing at least partially on the provincial government's temporary reduction of the sales tax from seven to four percent last year, which had the effect of "shifting sales that would otherwise have been made in 1979 of late 1978 into the summer of 1978."

"The effect of the advancement of consumer purchasing decisions will leave a vacuum in consumer spending which we see lasting for a good part of 1979," Brydon said.

Adding to the likelihood of reduced sales is the fact that "real income" (the purchasing power of a worker's take-home pay) has declined for the second consecutive year.

"Real income per worker rose fairly consistently at about four percent a year from 1970 through 1977," Brydon said, "and now it has reduced two years in a row. This creates an alarming scissors effect on consumer purchasing - reduced real income coupled with rising prices."

Brydon said the bank is also predicting that national per worker income may be hurt by a large number of strikes.

"We see a very strong possibility of an unwillingness by both workers and employers to face the facts and come to an agreement."

"This may well become the announce new equalization factors for county and school board levies. They will be based on the ratio of equalized assessment within a municipality to the total equalized assessment in the county. The result will be a shift in apportionment between municipalities.

But under the present system, increases in apportionment for a municipality will be felt most strongly by residential taxpayers, a system which Dysart reeve Murray Fearrey thinks is unfair.

"All you're doing is shifting the load within the county, but we'll have no more base to pay it on, because our assessment won't change," he told James. "We're not picking up the extra assessment we need to bring in more revenue."

"We're trying to make sure that people who are in like properties pay like taxes," James said.

"But if you can't change overall assessment, then some taxpayers will pay an undue share of taxes," Fearrey countered. "If you're sure enough (of market value information) to bring in new factors, why not bring in new assessment?"

James said simply that it was a political decision on the government's part.

Council voted to request a study of the impact of equalized assessments on the various property classes, but it is not happy with the system as James presented it.

"Council doesn't object to paying its share, but we object to being asked to pay it without an equitable tax base," reeve Fearrey said following the meeting.

Weather puts damper on seniors tax clinic

Strong winds and a heavy accumulation of snow combined to keep people away from a free tax clinic for seniors held in Haliburton and Minden Friday. But those who were unable to attend can still get help in filing their tax returns if they wish.

Doris McCann, organizer of the clinics, said some 14 volunteers spent Thursday morning at the Legion learning how to file tax returns, and were available Friday for the clinics at the Dysart Municipal Office and the Hyland Crest Home in Minden.

But the weather intervened, and the turnout was lower than expected at both clinics. Only six people turned out in Haliburton, but those who were able to attend benefitted from the service, according to Mrs. McCann.

It is the first year the service has been organized, and Mrs. McCann said in future years it would be scheduled earlier in the year to give people adequate opportunity to take advantage of it.

Seniors who were unable to attend the Friday clinics, but who still want help to complete their tax returns, can arrange an appointment with one of the volunteers anytime between now and the April 30 tax return deadline, Mrs. McCann said.

To arrange for an appointment, seniors should call the Dysart Municipal Office at 457-1740, or Doris McCann at 754-2752.

Logan prepared to debate with Scott, Daniel

Logan said he felt the government had to look toward more processing industries in eastern Ontario, and said his "objective would be right here."

"We have to have more capital, and in order to get that, we have to have a DREE designation," the Liberal candidate said.

"Once again, the more powerful members of parliament in other areas have gotten this DREE designation," he said, "so we're going to have to go after that."

Logan said that in the southern part of the riding his objective was to try to get agricultural processing plants in operation.

"I can't see for the life of me," Logan said, "where anybody gets a better way of life by having everything concentrated in the city."

"This is really the major thrust in my campaign, to try to bring out that the inequities do exist."

"Where you have a strong member of parliament," of any party," Logan said, "they've out-hustled us and we're going to have to start out-hustling them or we're going to do an injustice to our people."

Logan said he questioned whether the people in Victoria-Haliburton have been "getting their share back" of the taxes they pay. "The member of parliament has to look after his own people first," Logan said, "and that's where I'm going."

"There's only so much money in the pot," Logan said, adding that an M.P. has to move quickly in case someone else "figures out how to get it before you do."

"A member of parliament today, in my view," Logan said, "not only belongs to a party but he's also in competition with every other member in the house," to get money for his riding under various federal programs.

"It's the guy who gets there fastest, with the ideas, who's going to get the money for his people."

Logan said he would be willing to debate the issues with the other candidates on a public platform in Haliburton County.

"I would like to meet and debate these and other issues that people might have. I would be very prepared to do it. I think it would be worthwhile for the people to know the differences that might or might not exist and what can be done, and to have an opportunity to ask questions."

Like Scott, Logan said he was interested in a campaign that stressed the issues in the riding, rather than in "tearing someone else apart."

He said he expected to visit the northern part of the riding as early as next week.

Economists foresee drop in consumer spending

'summer of the strike,' Brydon said.

The effect of falling real income will be felt by businessmen and merchants as purchasing declines.

"If you are in a business where you hold an inventory, it may be wise to reduce it," Brydon told the meeting.

"Conservatism in inventory policies is recommended and, unfortunately, this conservatism will have a detrimental effect on manufacturers."

There was some good news along with the bad, however, and that good news came in the form of a prediction that governments are expected to moderate their spending policies in 1979.

"Looking at all levels of government in Canada, we expect their spending will rise only about two percent in real terms," Brydon said, adding, "that is not a bad effort when all things are considered."

Overall, the bank economists predict that the country's Gross National Product (the measure of all the goods and services the nation produces) will be "up about 2 1/2 percent, a reduction from last year's 3.5 percent increase."

The prime lending rate (the rate at which the Bank of Canada lends money to the chartered banks) is currently 12 percent, "and may go even higher in the short term," Brydon said, but the bank economists "see relief in sight," perhaps as early as late spring or early summer.

Brydon also expressed cautious optimism about the state of the Canadian dollar which has fallen to as low as 83 cents against the U.S. dollar, but which has rallied to over 86 cents in recent weeks.

Bank economists are predicting that the dollar could increase in value against international currencies this year, particularly if Canada's performance in dealing with inflation is better than that of the United States.

Brydon said "Canada may be shaking off some of the inflationary forces which have been so embedded in our economy for the past few years."

"If we are willing to accept a pattern of modest growth through 1979, we may then be well placed for a sustained period of higher growth and low inflation in 1980 and beyond."

He noted however, that there is a catch in the prediction, and that catch relates to government policy.

If government policy makers decided to stimulate the economy in what Brydon termed a "well intentioned but misguided effort to avoid an economic slowdown, then we will be headed for a continued period of stagflation."

The best course, he said, was a period of "modest but positive growth with a view to the future."

Has transported 222 critically ill patients to hospital

Helicopter ambulance extended 1 year

The Ministry of Health's helicopter ambulance program has been extended for another year, through March 31, 1980.

Announcement that the ambulance would continue to fly was made last week by provincial Health Minister Dennis Timbrell.

The helicopter ambulance service was begun 19 months ago as a pilot project. Flying out of Buttonville airport, the service extends within a radius of approximately 100 miles from Toronto. It is authorized to land on the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School playing field, and has transported patients from this area to Toronto hospitals.

To date, Timbrell said, the service has transported a total of 222 critically ill patients to hospitals in Toronto. Of that number, approximately 35 percent were premature newborn babies.

In the recent bus tragedy near Barrie, "the helicopter ambulance proved a vital link between the Royal Victoria Hospital and the Toronto teaching hospitals, transporting four young patients," Timbrell said.

The helicopter ambulance is also beneficial to small communities where hospitals do not have the equipment required to treat all critically ill patients, the Health Minister noted.

Timbrell said the Ministry is convinced medium range air service is an essential part of the ambulance system, and that the service would be broadened in the future.

through the use of fixed wing aircraft as well as helicopters. Estimated cost of the helicopter ambulance service for the next year of service is approximately $1 million.

Returning office open in Lindsay

The returning office for the riding of Victoria-Haliburton has been opened in Lindsay.

Returning officer for the May 22 Federal election is John Bovie.

Boundaries of the riding were changed in 1974, and the riding now takes in all of Victoria County, with the exception of Manvers Township, all of Haliburton County, the Townships of Brock and Georgina, and a portion of Peterborough County that includes Harvey, Anstruther, Cavendish, Galway, Chander and Burleigh Townships. It is one of the largest in population in Ontario.

Bovie estimates that there are between 45,000 and 55,000 eligible voters in the riding. In the 1974 election, enumeration figures revealed a total of 55,574 voters.

Enumeration for the election is expected to be completed this week, with enumerators selected by the returning officer.

Questions about the upcoming election can be directed to the returning office at 324-8383 or 324-8384.

The office will be open from 9 to 5 Monday through Saturday until election day.

Hydro offers 8 percent for all hourly rated workers

Ontario Hydro has offered a contract settlement valued at eight percent to renew its collective agreement with the Ontario Hydro Employees' Union, CUPE Local 1000.

At a meeting April 1, the union's executive board recommended that members reject the settlement. The union's 15,000 members across Ontario will now vote on the offer. If rejected, Hydro and the employees' union will be in a legal strike/lockout position late in April.

The wage offer includes an increase of eight percent for all hourly-rated employees. This would bring, for example, the electrician/line-man hourly rate up to $10.67, effective March 29, 1979.

The increase for weekly-salaried employees would vary from six to eight percent. Other contract improvements include payment of dental fees and increases in shift payments and on-call payments.

Only cost is a $4 fee to cover the cost of lunch and two coffee breaks.

Courses will run from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. More information and advance registration can be obtained from the Chamber office.

major improvements to employee benefits. Total value of the wage/benefits package sought by the union is about 16 percent.

be informed of the limits by the returning officer.

Within four months after the election, candidates are required to file a report with the returning officer setting out expenses and a breakdown of contributions of money, goods and services, and a list of names of contributors who donated more than $100.

A summary of this return must be published in a local paper.

Failure to file returns or to keep within expense limits carry penalties on conviction.

It may have felt like spring for a few weeks, but the heavy snowfall and high winds that hit the highlands and much of the rest of Ontario Friday proved that spring isn't quite here yet. Those who had put away winter boots dug them out again to struggle through several inches of snow, as municipal crews worked to clear village sidewalks.

Historical Society confirms executive

The newly formed Kinmount Historical Society held a meeting of their directors March 27.

It was the first time the group had met since the public meeting March 15 that saw the formation of the society.

Directors who were elected to office at that public meeting were all in attendance. The executive of the society consists of Mark Brelsford, president; John Butterill, vice president; David Longford, secretary, and directors June Phillips, Terry Hartin, Betty Scott, Tom Wilson and Joyce Brown.

Marina McClennan of the Fenelon Falls Historical Society attended the directors' meeting and explained various aspects of Historical Societies in Ontario.

The group decided to call itself the Kinmount and District Historical Society and has applied for a charter.

June Phillips was assigned the duties of treasurer, with David Longford designated to act as secretary.

Purpose of the society is to work to acquire and restore the old railway station in Kinmount for use as a museum, meeting place and tourist attraction.

Further developments on the acquisition, which must be made in co-operation with Somerville Township council, are expected in the near future.

Ministry plans 'Royal Treatment' workshop

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism has decided to take its "We Treat You Royally" campaign a step further this year by offering courses in how to give tourists the royal treatment.

Called "Let's All Treat Visitors Royally", the courses are free and are open to anyone in the tourist industry.

Areas covered in the course include improving self confidence and hospitality skills, dealing with difficult customers, using a telephone effectively, getting to know an area better from a tourist's point of view, and giving better service with less difficulty, among others.

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has set five dates for the course in the county. Enrolment for each session is limited to 35 people.

The first seminar will be held in the Wagon Wheel Motel in the Minden area May 17, the second in Haliburton Village June 7, the third on Lake Kashagawigamog June 18, the fourth June 20 at the Harcourt Community Hall, and the fifth June 21 at Mr. Fogg's in Carnarvon.

Only cost is a $4 fee to cover the cost of lunch and two coffee breaks.

Courses will run from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. More information and advance registration can be obtained from the Chamber office.

Juveniles, youth face charges charged with theft under $200.

Four more dials valued at $4, were removed from pay phones on April 1 in the Minden area, and a 14 year old juvenile was charged with theft under $200.

The same day, a number of gas caps were taken and tires flattened on cars parked at Ron Gambell's used car lot in Minden. The stolen items were valued at $57, of which $46 was recovered. Damage was estimated at $25.

The same 15 year old and 14 year old juveniles each face a charge of theft under $200 as a result of the occurrence.

On April 2, a fire extinguisher, wiper blade and swing out stop sign were stolen from a school bus operated by Harold Deacon of Minden. The items were valued at $105. $75 worth of goods were recovered by police, and the same 15 and 14 year old juveniles each received one charge of theft under $200.

Two other Minden juveniles, both 13, were also charged with theft under $200 in connection with the school bus incident.

Also on April 2, a check of a vehicle led to the recovery of five MTC snowplow guide reflectors. The theft was valued at $24 and $15 was recovered. The 14 and 15 year old juveniles were each charged with one count of theft under $200, in addition, Harold F. Porter, 16 of Minden has been charged with theft under $200.

During the vehicle check a Bell telephone dial was also recovered. The 15 year old juvenile and Harold Porter were charged with theft under $200.

At the same time a lawn spotlight owned by Kay Finlay of RR 2, Minden was recovered, valued at $6. The 14 year old juvenile, and Harold Porter were each charged with one count of theft under $200.

On April 3, further investigation led to the recovery of a No Parking sign valued at $7 which had been stolen from the Minden area.

The two 13 year old juveniles were each charged with one count of theft under $200 under the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

Investigation into the thefts and damage incidents was carried out by P.C. Bob Wood.

The safe course

Dysart et al council took to task Monday, a proposal from the Provincial government that will see assessment in municipalities across Ontario equalized within particular property categories. Council's quarrel was not with the intent of the changes, which should eliminate some inequities within particular property classes, but rather with the provincial government's reluctance to implement equalized assessment across the board.

In many areas of the province, including Haliburton County, assessments are not reasonable, largely because they have been frozen since 1970. Since that time, the market value of many kinds of property, whether residential, commercial, industrial or vacant land, has changed dramatically under pressure for development and the increased emphasis on recreation. But under the government's proposed reforms, the total of assessment will not change. Vacant land that was valued at $500,000 in 1970 might be worth $2 million today, but for the government's purposes, its value will remain at $500,000. The problem is that unless overall assessments rise to keep pace with changing values for particular kinds of land, taxpayers will still face inequitable taxation.

In July, the government will introduce new factors that will be used to determine municipalities' shares of county and school board levies. If the factors cause a change in apportionment, as they are expected to do, some municipalities will be called on to pay a greater share of county and school board levies than they have in the past.

Dysart council's argument is that ordinary homeowners will have to pay the bulk of that increase in levies, because the assessment for other classes of property is not realistic now, even if it was fair when assessments were frozen in 1970. It's an argument that makes sense. It is not one however, to which the government is likely to listen, for the simple reason that the government wishes to stay in power.

Studies of market value assessment in the last few years revealed that a significant tax shift would occur in some areas of the province, notably in Toronto and the rest of the golden horseshoe, if all property was assessed according to its actual worth. Never mind that the present system is out of date, never mind that market value assessment is the only fair way to spread the tax burden among all classes of property. The name of the game is to stay in power rather than to work for a fair, just and equitable system, so the government has scrapped plans for full market value assessment.

Dysart et al council was right to condemn the limitations of the government's moves.

The depressing truth of the matter, however, is that for the moment, there is little they, or any other small municipality can do to change the mind of a myopic and politically cautious provincial government.

And the taxpayers of Haliburton County will no doubt suffer for it.

A great debate

There are many ways to run an election campaign. Candidates can spend time on the streets talking to people. They can advertise in newspapers and on radio stations. They can attend political rallies before crowds of largely partisan supporters. Or they can stay largely out of the limelight, preferring to run on past merits rather than on present policies and beliefs. But the one great test of political candidates is open debate in locations where a large number of voters have an opportunity to hear what is said. And that is the course that ought to be followed in this riding.

If a voter is to make an intelligent choice, he must know what a candidate believes, and what a candidate hopes to accomplish. But more importantly, he must know how a candidate performs under fire; how he or she fares under the stress and immediacy of open political debate. That, after all, is the forum in which politicians must function in parliament. Being able to stand up under fire and to effectively field rhetoric is an essential part of doing a good job for a riding.

The voters in Haliburton County should demand an open debate between the Liberal, PC and NDP candidates for office in the upcoming election.

It has been common practice in the past for candidates to avoid situations in which they are put under particular stress, situations in which they become particularly vulnerable. But the voters should not allow them to get away with it.

We need open debates between the candidates at public meetings if we are to truly assess a candidate's readiness for office.

Voters should demand those debates and party workers should be prepared to provide them.

Oblong Lake, looking west

As others see it

The District of Muskoka is taking a long look at the tax exemption situation in the region for religious and educational institutions. The district feels Muskoka has a high tax exemption rate per capita and it will probably go much higher which would mean disaster for our tax base and the regular ratepayer.

Institutions such as the Baptist conference on Mary Lake and the Pioneer Camps in Port Sydney have already gone to court and have had considerable success getting exemptions from paying municipal taxes. It's expected the recently established Camp for the Age of the Enlightenment at the old Britannia Hotel may file for exemption under the educational institution section of the tax act.

The district is not arguing about what constitutes an educational facility or a religious one thus allowing tax exemption. It does appear, however, that the line between such organizations and profit making ones is getting thinner all the time and the courts are inclined towards tax exemption for these groups.

The full resort type industry in Muskoka seems to be in trouble. These resorts can quickly be turned into religious or educational facilities in a holiday type setting, however. Many in Muskoka have been converted and, who knows how many more will be turned from a tourist resort which pays a large tax based on the value of the property, to tax exempt institutions?

We can't lay blame on educational and religious organizations establishing themselves in this area. And we certainly can't blame them for going after every exemption they can under the law as it stands. But we also can't stand still as our tax base is eroded to the point where the ordinary taxpayer is forced to pay way beyond his means.

Editor's Notebook

by
Len Pizze

Not so many years ago, while I was a struggling student living in a bleak apartment in downtown London, riding a bicycle back and forth to classes, and dreaming of the day when I would be free of the burden of books and term papers, I came to a realization that has stayed with me ever since. That realization was, quite simply, that there is no such thing as happiness that can be bought, and no such thing as peace of mind without struggle.

It was not a realization that came as a revelation. It was something that grew slowly, out of rainy days and reading, hours in libraries and summers of manual labour.

It came as a pleasant surprise this past weekend then, to pick up the Canadian Magazine and find in it, letters from dozens of people who had come to the same realization. The letters were written in response to a column by Harry Bruce, a staff writer for the magazine. In his column, which I had not read, Bruce asked if there were out there, any happy people. Seemingly tired and a touch cynical, Bruce wondered whether it was possible to be happy in the late 1970's. And the answer he got was an overwhelming yes.

All of the writers had one thing in common. All knew that happiness is an elusive state of mind that is as personal as the individuals who feel it. And all knew that the essence of happiness is simplicity. For some of the writers, happiness meant things as ordinary as a walk in the woods or an ice cream cone on a hot day. For others, it means the support of friends or relations, or the trials and tribulations of a family. But for all the writers, being happy meant being active, and approaching the little things in life with a positive attitude.

It is a philosophy that bears thinking about at a time when there is more than enough that is both disturbing and angering.

Reading those letters, I recalled a day almost exactly four years ago. I was on my way from Johannesburg, South Africa to Nairobi, Kenya, in an old army truck with nine other people from various parts of the world.

We had stopped in a village of mud huts and dust on the edge of Amboseli Park in Kenya, looking for food in a primitive, dark and dilapidated hut that served as the village's only store.

Milling around the truck while we waited for the people who had gone to the store to return, we were suddenly surrounded by dozens of smiling Masai tribesmen, some carrying spears, and all sporting brass beaded jewellery in pierced ears and noses. It was one of those encounters that comes seldom in a lifetime, a meeting of peoples from different cultures and backgrounds in a setting that you experienced as much as saw.

And what struck me then, and has stayed with me ever since, was the openness and simplicity of those people. They were curious and smiling. They lived in the plains of Kenya, measured wealth in cattle, and faced lions and elephants as a part of daily life. They had little by western standards, but their faces and their attitude told us they had much we would never understand or share.

It seemed to me then, and it has seemed to me ever since, that those Masai, so close to nature, so unencumbered by the trappings of civilization, came by their smiles honestly and missed nothing in their harsh and simple way of life.

Happiness in Canada is different, of course, because we must face a different set of problems. But we can still look to the small experiences in life to find lasting pleasure.

Judging by the letters readers sent to Harry Bruce, there are a great many Canadians who understand that fact very well.

Feir Play

— by —
Creighton Feir

On a recent visit to Minden I happened to run into Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Coburn and we got into a conversation about the problems that we face in Canada today and also of the plight of our young people who are growing up in our society today. Lorne informed me that he had in his possession an editorial which appeared in the Haliburton County Echo on Thursday, February 26, 1953. He was explaining to me that after he read the editorial, one has to wonder if things have changed very much since the days of Socrates. The editorial was headed "Socrates Was Right". Here in part is what this editorial said:

"Could I climb the highest place in Athens; I would lift my voice and proclaim: Fellow Citizens, why do you turn and scrape every stone to gather wealth, and take so little care of your children, to whom one day you must relinquish it all?" Socrates.

Why is it that today so many of the younger generation show so little respect - respect for parents, for their elders, for members of the opposite sex, for their teachers and for themselves? The youth of today seem to the writer, to lack some of the essentials that are required to build strong upright noble character which is so necessary in fighting life's battles. This so-called new freedom which has entered our institutions of learning has pushed aside the old fashioned ideas that teachers and parents tried to install in the minds of the youth of former generations. It used to be that the purpose of education was the training of the pupil's mind for the serious business of earning a livelihood and to install the principles of moral and Christian behaviour. This included discipline, which is so necessary in the building of character. If young people show no respect for anyone or anything, if they go wrong, if their minds are filled with cravings for speed and snappy motor cars, sex or liquor, the cause can often be traced to the home. The parents have been so busy in seeking their own worldly pleasures that the proper training of their children has been neglected and the children, having no home guidance, have been allowed to follow their inclinations wherever they may lead. Despite this unfortunate condition that affects the lives of many of the youth, there are, happily, a goodly number of young people who have the strength of character to fling off the temptations of today which beset them. Strength comes from the difficulties we face, not the ones we avoid. The obstacles we overcome, not the ones we complain about. A clear conscience, not the applause of the crowd. The approval of God, not the election returns. One's self-respect, not one's pride. The tasks we attempt, not the alibis we present. The hard competition, not the good territory. Let's keep in mind that this editorial was written over twenty-five years ago and the question we really have to ask ourselves is has anything changed since that time?

I was given a copy of the Pittsburgh Press Daily recently and on the sports page the headline read "Pens Take Off Their Hats to Stackhouse". The Press sports writer, Bob Black, reporting from New York, had the following to say: "Fellow defenseman Colin Campbell probably said it best when describing Ron Stackhouse's worth to the Pittsburgh Penguins. 'We've had a few key players injured this season,' Campbell said. 'But we were able to get along without them because of our overall balance. When we lost Stackhouse, however, it was a different story. He's not an easy man to replace.' The 6-3, 210 pound veteran displayed what he can mean to a team recently at Madison Square Gardens in front of 17,423 fans by picking up the first hat trick of his career while leading the Penguins to an impressive 5-1 victory over the New York Rangers. Stackhouse, who suffered a severe eye injury when he was struck by a puck during a game at Colorado prior to the all-star break, has regained the form he showed in December. 'I think if we continue to play like this,' Stackhouse said, 'we will have to be considered a contender in the play-offs.' His contributions might be one of the reasons why."

If you happened to be watching the T.V. one Saturday night recently when the Pittsburgh club played the Canadiens in Montreal you heard Red Storey on the in-between period intermission praise Ron for his outstanding play with the Pittsburgh team.

While still on the subject of hockey, Bernie Nicholls, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nicholls, is making quite a name for himself in the hockey world. Bernie, who has had an outstanding year with the Kingston Canadiens in the major Junior "A" hockey league, proved to be one of their better players in their recent play-off series with the Peterborough Petes. Although Peterborough ousted the Kingston team in the play-offs, Bernie came up with the winning goal in one of the games. He should be good enough to make the big time and we wish him the best of luck.

Major Bruce Harcourt, who was born, raised and educated in the City of Toronto, will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship in Canada hold their monthly dinner meeting on Friday evening April 20 at 7:00 p.m. at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton. Major Harcourt served 6½ years in the Canadian Army. He graduated from Officers Training College of the Salvation Army, Toronto in 1955. He served 10 years on the east coast, five years in western Canada and nine years in Ontario. He is a born-again, baptized, spirit-filled believer. You won't want to miss his most interesting message.

Several people from around the area have been wondering from the movie "Summer Camp" which was filmed in Haliburton and surrounding area last summer is going to hit the movie screens. We have been wondering the same thing ourselves and we can't understand what the hold-up seems to be. Everyone in the area seems to be looking forward to seeing this film.

In closing my column this week I would like to remind you that there are few, if any, jobs in which ability alone is sufficient. Needed also are loyalty, sincerity, enthusiasm and co-operation.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

Thanks for your comments

Our new 1979 "Guide Book" along with the first ever edition of the "Haliburton Highlands Building Trades Directory" have now been mailed to all our members and we sincerely appreciate the comments we have received from many of you. Year after year we have been striving to improve our Guide Books to offer our membership the most effective method of advertising to visitors, and judging from the response to date it looks like we are on the right track. We have also received some calls pointing out errors and omissions, which we appreciate as well since in some cases it may be possible to rectify these problems.

As the saying goes, "Keep those cards and letters (and phone calls) coming in."

Registry Office stays

Last July a list of 28 Registry offices was circulated that was apparently being considered by the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations foreclosure. Included in the list was both Minden and Lindsay, assuming that their functions could be handled at Peterborough. The Chamber has had considerable correspondence with the then Minister Larry Grossman and the present Minister Frank Drea, and held a number of meetings with those that make regular use of this facility.

It was indicative of the fragile nature of our economy that we found the closing of this one facility could actually remove from 25 to 30 jobs in total from our area. As a result of all these consultations a brief was prepared to be submitted to the Ministry in support of our Registry office.

When John Eakins approached the Honourable Frank Drea to set up a meeting for us to present this brief, Mr. Drea stated emphatically that the Registry office functions would be remaining exactly as they are in Haliburton County. This was certainly good news. So often we are chasing around after the fact, to try and get a decision changed that has already been made. This time we were so well prepared we have all the arguments ready to change a decision that was never made. We will however be submitting the brief for their general information.

Training Seminars to "Treat Them Royally"

The "We Treat You Royally" campaign introduced by the Ministry of Industry and Tourism last year is being run again this year with even more emphasis. It is agreed that in order to be successful the campaign must be handled properly by all staff who are generally meeting the public. For this reason the Ministry has provided qualified seminar leaders to provide one day hospitality training courses across the province. The Chamber has been successful in securing five dates for Haliburton County and we urge participation by all those dealing directly with the public. The only cost is a nominal fee of $4.00 to cover lunch and two coffee breaks, all other cost is being absorbed by either the Ministry of the facility where the seminar is being held. Each seminar is limited to 35 participants so registration in advance is recommended to avoid disappointment.

Some locations have not been finalized as yet but we can give you the dates and areas concerned. The first seminar will be held at the Wagon Wheel Motel just south of Minden on May 17th, and the second in or around Haliburton Village on June 7th. On June 18th there will be a seminar held on Lake Kashagawigamog, on June 20th at the Harcourt Community Hall in Harcourt, and on June 21st at Mr. Fogg's at Carnarvon. All courses run from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. For more information and to register in advance call the Chamber office.

Monmouth Maple Syrup Festival

Wilberforce will be humming this weekend with their annual Maple Syrup Festival and Flea Market. As they did last year a sugaring off demonstration, a flea market, and bake sale along with the tasty pancakes and sausages which will highlight the days' activities in Wilberforce. In addition this year the Home and Garden Show is being held at the arena and a big dance will be held Saturday night at the Lloyd Watson Hall. This late winter storm we have just experienced is just the thing to get the sap really flowing again, and the sugar bush tour should be of great interest to everyone. See you there.

Pic of the Past

Hunting season is still a long way off but for the ardent hunter, anytime is a good time to look at a hunting picture. We have one for you this week which shows the North Lake Hunt Club taken in the month of November of 1962. From the left, Andrew Curry, David Bishop, Russell Dart, Fred Neimann, Frank McIntyre, Laimi Rinne, W. R. Curry. Our thanks to Mrs. Dorothy Baker of Haliburton for submitting this photo.

Bill Smiley

Right from the first, I knew it was a day, "I shoulda stood in bed," as a third-rate pugilist, Kingfish Levinsky, once said after being flattened by the great heavyweight Joe Louis, in round one.

Got up, took a tug at the strap of my wristwatch to take it off and wash; broke the strap. Nothing serious. Cheap plastic junk. But it turned out to be applied to the watch by one of those unseen geniuses who lose one of your socks in the wash, and produce four extra beer bottles when every case of empties is full.

I'll probably never be able to wear the watch again, unless I glue it to my wrist. Serves me right. I hadn't a watch for 30 years, and never felt the need for one. But my wife bought me this one last summer, in the duty-free shop at London airport. And now I find myself neurotically flipping up my cuff and glaring at the hair on my left wrist, like all the other anxiety hounds in the country who are not going anywhere, don't need to know the time, but are constantly flipping up their arms like trained seals and looking at their watches.

Who needs a watch? Life is going quickly enough, without the evidence on a little dial. The very word has nothing but unpleasant connotations. "Watch what you're doing there. Watch out. Watch your step. Watch the late movie. Watch your wife. Watch that guy hanging around your daughter. Watch what you say in mixed company."

O.K. I shrugged off the watch. Went down and got my breakfast. Usually, it's toast and tea. This particular morning, I had more time, so I fixed the works: real coffee, bacon, fried bread and a nice sloppy fried egg on top of the bread. A drooly great breakfast.

Thought I'd eat in my favourite chair in the living room, and read my morning paper in the spring sunshine pouring in the window. So I put my grub on the kitchen counter and started cutting the fried bread and egg into bite-sized pieces, so that I'd need one hand to eat.

Something skidded. The plate slipped off the counter, sprayed grease all over the front of my pants, and smashed to smithereens on the floor. I emitted a most unlady-like few words, salvaged the bacon from under the sink and started cleaning up.

Have you ever tried to wipe up just one lousy semi-fried egg from a kitchen floor? It reminded me of the old days, when I'd drop a quart milk bottle and sponge up what seemed like a gallon of milk. And it was the first time I'd had to change my pants since I was about two.

Well, I should have stopped right there, stripped to the skin, and gone back to bed for the day. But, as faithful readers know, I believe that bad things come in threes, and then you have a good streak.

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

The safety of nuclear generating stations is very much in the news because of the crisis situation at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania. Ontario has made a very heavy commitment to the nuclear industry in Canada, and the economic as well as energy implications of any debate regarding that industry are enormous. There would appear to be good reasons to believe that the Canadian nuclear system is vastly safer than other available alternatives. It is, therefore, essential that discussion be conducted in a rational manner without hysteria or panic.

As Stuart Smith has pointed out, it is also essential that a consideration of the safety of Ontario's nuclear reactors take place immediately in the context of what has happened in Pennsylvania. We in the Liberal Party feel that any delay in the process of this public consideration will simply permit rumours and uninformed speculation to influence public opinion in this very important period of time. All sides in the nuclear safety argument must be given a proper opportunity to present their case and question each other.

There are a number of ways in which this debate and the necessary public disclosure can occur. We would recommend that the Select Committee on Hydro Affairs be specifically charged with the immediate responsibility of investigating the matter of nuclear safety and be given permission to sit concurrently with the House so that it might begin immediately.

It is important that the debate occur in an atmosphere as non-political as possible and that the Committee be able to benefit from what is already done so that duplication can be avoided. We have recommended that Dr. Arthur Porter, Chairman of the Royal Commission on Electric Power Planning, be seconded as a special consultant to the Committee for the duration of the hearings on the matter of nuclear safety. Dr. Porter could organize the work of the Committee and be of enormous assistance in the questioning of witnesses and the assessment of material presented. We have recommended that the Premier ask Dr. Porter if he would be willing to serve in this way, as soon as possible.

In this way we can be certain that the consideration of nuclear safety will be carried on in a responsible and informed manner, so that the public can be fully confident of the facts as they are made available.

Search for Development Workshops Underway

The first workshop held by our Economic Development Commission kicks off at PineStone this Wednesday and we have been made aware of some very interesting submissions that will be forthcoming. If you have missed the first workshop, you still have time to attend the second one at the Leslie Frost Centre on April 18th or the third one at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Hall in Wilberforce on the 27th. An additional workshop has not been scheduled to specifically address the Forest Products Industry on May 2. Those actively engaged in this industry within the county will be receiving specific invitations, but anyone who does not fall into this category is particularly interested in attending this meeting is urged to contact the Chamber of Commerce office for further details.

The final workshop which will review the input of the preceding four has been set for the afternoon of May 30th.

Minden group will go ahead with bid to form Junior D team in the village

A group of Minden hockey fans have decided to put an application for a Junior D team in the village before the OHA.

Ross Warburton, president of Minden Minor Hockey and newly elected president of the proposed team, said Monday that 18 players turned up at a meeting in the village last week to express an interest in playing on a Minden Junior D team.

"All showed real enthuiasm to play," Warburton said.

At an earlier meeting, Warburton had told a small turnout that a Haliburton businessman had agreed to put up $4,000 to help sponsor a team in Minden. The offer still stands, although the name of the man who made the offer has not yet been revealed.

Next step in the process is for the proposal to be submitted to the OHA annual meeting April 29.

The Haliburton Huskies are expected to voice disapproval of the Minden proposal because of potential loss of players, Warburton noted.

Junior D teams have a drawing radius of 25 miles for players, and teams in Haliburton and Minden would overlap.

Warburton said the Minden group has decided to apply for the team because of a feeling among some Minden players that they haven't gotten enough ice time when they played for the Huskies. He said the players "don't feel they get the same break," as Haliburton players when they play for the Haliburton based club.

Warburton said Minden would not have gone ahead with the effort to form a Junior team "if we could have gotten agreement with them" (Haliburton) over the release of the juvenile players. Warburton said the group trying to form the team knows that a team would not be highly competitive, and would stand no chance of beating Lakefield, which won the Group 5 final this year. But, he said, there are enough players around Minden who want to play in the village to make it possible for Minden to ice a team.

Final decision on the application of the Minden group will come at a OHA director's meeting in May. "It's not the end of the world if we don't get it," Warburton said.

Besides Warburton, others on the executive of the proposed team are Joe Cox, vice president, and Shirley Howe, secretary treasurer.

If the application is accepted, a board of directors will be formed to round out the organization. A number of people have already expressed an interest in serving on a board, Warburton said.

Badminton teams compete in Kawartha qualifying meets

Last week, co-ed badminton teams from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School competed in qualifying meets for the opportunity to take part in Kawartha competition.

The Junior team competed at T. A. Stewart on Tuesday, April 3. The following qualified to advance to the Kawartha finals on Monday, April 9: Scott Arbuthnot and Paul Madden in men's doubles, Bruce Medcalf in men's singles and Heather Kennedy in ladies' singles.

Other members of the team were: Ron Yake and Margie Newton in mixed doubles, Pam Iles and Corinne Neville in ladies' doubles, and Darren McInnis and Cathy Darby as spares.

The Senior team competed at I. E. Weldon on Thursday, April 5. Tim Davies qualified in men's singles to advance to Kawartha competition on Wednesday, April 11. The following members of the team placed one position short of qualifying: Mike Iles and Steve Bishop in men's doubles; Jocelyn Kennedy and Miriam Vanderwal in ladies' doubles; Andy Salvatori and Cheryl Dillon in mixed doubles; and Susan Kennedy in ladies' singles.

Lisa Salvatori and Bill Musclove completed the team as spares.

The boys volleyball teams have competed in three exhibition tournaments and now advance to Kawartha qualifying meets. The Juniors compete at Cobourg East on Tuesday, April 10 and the Seniors at Cobourg West on Thursday April 12.

HHSS gymnastics team does well at Lindsay meet

The Haliburton Highlands girls gymnastic team travelled to Lindsay this past Saturday to attend the I. E. Weldon Invitational gymnastic meet. Peterborough and Lindsay schools dominated the eight school meet, with L.C.V.I. winning the aggregate team trophy.

Outstanding performances were given by Andrea Burk placing third (7.5) on Novice beam, Margie Newton placing fourth (7.75) on Novice bars and fifth (7.4) on beam, and Cindy Hore placing sixth (7.45) on Intermediate beam.

This Wednesday, the gymnastic team travels to Lindsay Collegiate for the Kawartha Division meet, a qualifying meet for COSSA.

Curling Club News

by Don Popple

The ice is being taken out of our club but a few of our teams are still playing in various bonspiels.

This past weekend Bob Collier and his rink of Dick McLean, Mike Oakes and Clark Bailey travelled to North Bay Granite Club and participated in a 64 rink spiel. They placed fourth in the second event.

Last weekend Phyl Woodcock and her rink of Linda Collins, Kit Koehler and Sheila Elston placed second in their draw with 38 1/4 points at a bonspiel at Weston Golf and Country Club.

The curling banquet is to be held Saturday, April 21 at Wig-A-Mog Inn. Tickets are $10.00 per person and are available from Phyl Woodcock, Haliburton Pharmacy and Curry Motors.

Linda Schepers, here performing her routine on the uneven parallel bars, was one of several Haliburton Highlands Secondary School gymnasts who competed in a meet in Lindsay Saturday.

Skaters earn badges as Figure Skating Club holds test day

The 1978-79 Haliburton Figure Skating season is now over for another season. Although the membership is small the girls and boys have worked hard and many have progressed onto higher levels. Junior final test day in March showed the final results: Beginners Badge: Jason Casey; Stroking Badge: Jason Casey, Tracy Popple; Elementary Badge: Cindy Byers, Kendra Curry, Cameron Dixon, Tabitha Pringle, Angela Smith, Derek Beachli, Dalton Beachli; Basic Badge: Cassandra Amorose, Keri-Lyn Brown, Cindy Dixon, Gavin McKnight; Novice I: Jody Roberts, Lianne Scheffer; Jump Badge: Alison Sisson, Jodi McKnight, Shontel Morrison; Novice II: Judy Finlay; Dance II Badge: Melissa Creelman.

To finish off the season this year the juniors had races and games with prizes for everyone. Special thanks go to Club Pro Kelly Beeny for all her help in coaching, and to the recreation committee and arena staff for their co-operation and support.

A general meeting will be held April 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Haliburton arena. Photos will be available at this time.

Congratulations go to the Atom team on a fine season.

Fishing licence increased

The Hon. James A. C. Auld, Minister of Natural Resources, has indicated that the proposed increase of the non-resident angler seasonal licence fee from $10.75 to $35.00, as reported by various media, needs clarification.

"What has been suggested by my staff," Auld said, "is that the present seasonal licence which sells for $10.75 be replaced by a two-, three-, or even a four-week licence at a comparable price." The Minister feels most tourists to Ontario would be accommodated with this term licence. For those non-residents who wish to fish throughout the entire season, a seasonal licence would be made available at a price of $35.00.

Non-resident anglers in Ontario presently pay $6.00 for a three-day licence or $10.75 for the seasonal licence. With the suggested

Atoms win consolation

On April 3, Haliburton and Bobcaygeon met in Haliburton in the third game of their play-off series with the series tied at one game apiece. The first period ended with neither team able to score on the opposition's goalie. In the second period Cory McKnight scored from Tran LaRue and two minutes later Tran LaRue scored assisted by Cory McKnight and Darryl Tunall. This put Haliburton ahead 2-0 until the 12 minute mark of the third period when John Crowe scored from David Thompson to make the score 2-1. Haliburton was able to hold off the strong pressure from Bobcaygeon in the last three minutes to win the game, the series and the Consolation Trophy for their division.

Congratulations go to the Atom team on a fine season.

Most members of the Norland Women's Institute attended the supper meeting in the W.I. Hall on Monday, April 2. Following the smorgasbord casserole meal that was prepared by the losing attendance team, the election of officers took place.

Officers for 1979-80 are president - Mrs. Patricia Watson, first vice president - Mrs. Betty Davey, second vice president - Mrs. Anna Verkerk, secretary-treasurer -

Mrs. Jean Stewart, District director - Mrs. Leona Fountain, branch directors - Mrs. Grace Graham and Mrs. Isabell Kilpatrick, and auditors, Mrs. Eleanor Crane and Mrs. Betty Davey. Convenors are Mrs. Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Anna Verkerk, Mrs. Fae Quinn, Mrs. Hazel Gostlin, Mrs. Barbara Maunder, Mrs. Leona Fountain and Mrs. Patricia Watson. New members are always welcome, meetings are the first Monday of each month at 7:45 p.m. For further information please contact president, Mrs. Theodore Watson - 454-

On Tuesday, April 3 over 250 United Church women from the Bay of Quinte Conference met together at Cambridge United Church in Lindsay for the seventeenth annual U.C.W. Conference. The afternoon guest speaker was Mrs. Marjory Levan, Alcohol and Drug Concerns Inc. who chose as her theme, "Come As A Child". Following her most informative talk, the ladies formed into groups to discuss in depth the various problems of excessive alcohol and drug uses. Later after a delicious dinner prepared and served by the Cambridge United Church ladies, all adjourned to the sanctuary and enjoyed a sing-song under the leadership of Mrs. Orlee Wells who was accompanied by Mrs. Kay Russell, pianist. Mrs. Clifford Irwin, president of Peterborough Presbyterial U.C.W. then introduced the Right Rev. George Tuttle, moderator of the United Church of Canada who spoke to us on the subject titled "The Church Now". Afterwards Rev. Tuttle invited questions from the audience which were aptly answered by him.

If you didn't see the Aurora Borealis - those bands of light appearing in the northern sky on Tuesday, April 3 between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m., you missed a most spectacular sight. It is a popular belief that cold weather will follow after a display of these northern lights and it would seem that this has certainly proved true. Wednesday was a snowy, cold night and late Thursday evening and all day Friday more snow, high winds and drifting. And to think that just a few days ago I was wondering about raking the front and side lawns! As a radio announcer observed "there isn't very much that we can do about the weather but it certainly can do things to us!"

Winner of third series of Norland Bowling Club was the team of Betty Davey with bowlers Jean Boyce, Dan Brohm, Eleanor Crane and Fred Patullo on it. Team Standings as of April 4 are B.

Davey - 45 pts., L. McLean - 38 pts., B. Maunder - 36 pts., N. Chynoweth - 31 pts., K. Watson and T. Watson - 25 pts., L. Jewell - 29 pts., and D. Boyce - 23 pts. Ladies high single and average, Nelly Chynoweth 202, 186, high triple, Rotha Bryant, 588. Mens high single, Don Boyce - 256, high triple, John Kilpatrick - 611 and high average Harry Smith - 195. Three more weeks of play-offs completes the season. Details of May 12 bowling banquet next week.

All are invited to an Anglican-United Interdenominational Maundy Thursday service at Christ Anglican Church, Cobocok on April 12 at 7:30 p.m. This is an opportunity to meet the new rector, Rev. Mr. McCerlan.

The fifth Sunday, April 29 will be a joint United Church service of all the churches of the Cobocok charge in Burnt River United Church at 11:00 a.m. The guest speaker will be Mr. Bradley who will tell of his work as a construction missionary in Africa. A warm invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Councillor Dave Graham was fortunate in winning the firefighters' hockey pool on Saturday, March 31. The Norland Firefighters Association are selling $1.00 draw ticket for a prize of $1,000.00.

The draw will take place at the horse draw on July 14. Tickets are available from members of the township fire department and at the municipal office. Support your firemen in this worthwhile venture.

I mistakenly wrote in my column two weeks ago that for sale notices could be placed on the bulletin board that is in the township office. Council members have decided that this board will be for community events only. If you have an event of interest to the community, your poster may be placed on this board in the north window of the township office for all to view.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the firemen express their thanks to all who attended and/or helped with the dance last Saturday, March 31. Another dance with the ever popular Misty River Ramblers will be on Saturday, April 28 in Norland Community Hall with dancing from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Advance sale tickets at $8.00 a couple are available from Dolly LeCraw - 454-8070 and Jean Boyce - 454-8017. Tickets are limited so call soon and reserve yours.

Friday, April 13 is Good Friday and I would like to wish all of my readers a very happy and pleasant Easter holiday. Easter is a time to sense the nearness of the risen Christ. In experiencing His presence and receiving a fresh view of the values in life that count with Him, we are prepared to live more fully in the resurrection faith.

Extendicare News

Our attention was interested in British Columbia radio 'phone-in Monday noon regarding a suit for slander against a political cartoonist for one of their dailies. We regard cartoonists as exceptionally intelligent skillful without peer and witty, whereas the judge thinks otherwise, as you have read from the account. A cabinet minister rabble rousing politician that cannot take gaff from the press without demanding more pay is the lowest of any, and it appears he got the whole hearted support from Prime Minister Trudeau, in his application for more pay for taking the gaff instead of chucking it off as others do. Trudeau must have a terrible rancor against British Columbia to appoint such an egghead to their bench and he claims to be working for unity in Canada.

We note our crocuses are starting to flower and how cute they are thus alone sort of, in a wide expanse of lawn. The tulips and daffodils are both up but no flower yet. This was a trial stunt that paid off.

There are a lot of seedlings in their progress from seed to maturity, fully as many as last year, and close scrutiny would indicate their survival rate is better and it also means the big transplanting effort for this year is about done. Just enlarging their pots as they approach the planting out is all they will need.

One of our fushias given to us by Mrs. Betty Wise as a cutting, January 9, is just about to flower. We have many fushias she gave us, some white. The red violet she gave us at the same time has come into bloom. It is possible that many amateur florists are not aware of this beautiful red flowering African violet.

At a regular meeting of the Happy Gang Wednesday morning, one of the minutes we passed concerned lonely senior citizens in this area sitting at home with no one to talk to. Now that we have a phone of our own we decided to join the tela-checks program. One of our number will make the acquaintance of one of these citizens when we know who, and have periodic chats with them. We look forward to this program being a success. After we get it established many more of us will get into the act.

We are glad to see Mrs. Lola McColl back with us again after an acute illness hospitalized her in Peterborough. She is still not well, but we hope for the best.

This Harrisburg close shave from disaster is about to pose an insurmountable problem. We are living in an affluent society which has resulted in uncontrolled inflation. Do not blame the Prime Minister for that in its entirety. Canadians have demanded the good life, unlimited energy resources, gas and electric power in particular, swimming pools, unlimited travel, electronic gadgets - in short everything, and now the same Canadians will protest nuclear power, protesting the only source of the good life. Using the vernacular, what a laugh! As soon as Ontario Hydro moved into electric heat, nuclear generation had to be. Without electric heating, they may have squeezed through without for many years. Opulence has meant doomsday anxiety.

Pastor Glen Rosch of the Full Gospel Lighthouse of Haliburton, was our spiritual leader for the Friday morning devotion; his wife Julie was the gifted pianist. The theme at this service was "The Adoration and the Betrayal of Jesus that led to the Cross". Sometimes we see that today in a mob listening to a politician - the mixture of cheers and boos, possibly predictable human nature venting their feelings. Our after service of tea or coffee and cookies was enjoyable.

In the afternoon two movies were shown: 1. "Backpack to nature", revealing an urge among adolescents and teenagers to get into the wilds and rough it for awhile. Before attempting this it is well to take a good course and familiarize yourselves with the possible trials and dangers and go properly equipped Irene and Jack Clayton had a happy family dinner a week ago Sunday. Their son Phillip, his wife Wendy and their sons, Chad and Shannon also their daughter, Barb Bevilacqua, her husband Carlo and their daughter, Amy of North Bay arrived to spend the day with their parents.

Harry and Blanche Clayton had company over the school break. Daughter Janet and her husband Gabe Croce, along with their daughters of Thornhill spent several days with the parents. Janet and Gabe returned home leaving the girls with the grandparents and Harry and Blanche took them home near the end of the week. However, their stay in Thornhill was not so pleasant as Blanche developed

by Jane Selbie

Have you ever marvelled at the loss of material in fuzz that you have to remove from the lint collector of your automatic dryer? Think how much thinner your clothes get after a hundred sessions! Two things occurred to me, first when you can, it would be wise to hang things out on the line; saving energy, bleaching them with sunlight, giving everything a wonderful fresh air smell and saving on your hydro bill. But when you do use the dryer why not save all that fuzz bit by bit. In no time you will have enough to stuff a doll, a pillow or if you are really steadfast make a quilt filler. Sound frugal?...Well, why not?

You can get all sorts of recycling and energy saving tips by sending for an interesting book put out by the Energy, Mines and Resources Department. For a copy write to: The Garbage Book, Box 3500, Station C, Ottawa, Ontario K1L 4G1. It is free and will give you suggestions that will save you money.

Don't forget we want you to share your recycling ideas. The best suggestions each month will be awarded a $5.00 prize.

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the Haliburton County Board of Education as at December 31, 1978, the Revenue Fund Statement of Operations and the Capital Fund Statement of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination included a general view of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

The Wilberforce minor hockey league teams did very well in competition with Apsley and Bancroft at the recent play-off games held in Bancroft. The novices, under the guidance of coach Craig Mumford, ended a successful season by winning the cup. The Atoms were also cup winners after a winter of ups and downs and aided by two dedicated coaches Greg Taylor, and Bill Tallman. Jim Alden, coach for the Pee Wees, carried his team into first place in the schedule but they lost out in their bid for the cup. We are proud of the achievements of our teams who are learning the advantages of healthy exercise and good sportsmanship.

The Awards banquet of April 7 marked the closing of the hockey season. Having enjoyed a good dinner attention was then focused on the distribution of the awards with each winner getting enthusiastic applause as his name was called.

Maureen Bousfield, member of the minor hockey club, received a plaque for untiring service. Howard and Phyllis Bousfield also received plaques in appreciation for their contribution to the good of the club.

Duke Townsend was highly recommended for his part as member of the Midgets. Most improved player for the Novices was David Anderson while most valuable player was Tim Hunter. John Waugh was picked as most improved player for the Atoms while Mark Noseworthy was judged to be the most valuable player. Jeff Graham was most improved player for the Pee Wees and Fred Agnew scored as the most valuable player. The Bantams picked John Thompson as the most improved player and Mike Smith as the most valuable player. Team captains admitted that it had great difficulty in choosing the stars as many others were suitable candidates for the awards.

Coaches also received acknowledgement from their teams. Lee Clark mentioning that he held little hope for the Bantams at the beginning of the season but that he was satisfied with their performance when the games were finished.

An appreciation award was accepted by Don Meharrie for his work with the teams. Jason Stoughton was judged as best goalie of the season while the outstanding athlete of minor hockey was Jim Alden who took over coaching of the Pee Wees halfway through the season and who also worked with other teams when needed.

The Maple Syrup Festival takes place this Saturday with a busy schedule of interesting events. Pancakes will be served for breakfast and will also be available for snacks during the day. There will be maple syrup displays and a boiling down of sap will be demonstrated near the hall. A flea market will offer an assortment of articles for sale. Those who would like to take part in the flea market may rent a table for $5.00 from Flo Oram. There are just a few left. There will be bake sales too and a dance in the evening to wind up the day. Most of the activity takes place in the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre but there is more to be seen across the road at the arena where the Farm, Home and Garden show will be held Friday and Saturday. Here you will find displays of farm equipment, outdoor motors, furniture, machinery and other items of interest. Come and enjoy this first big event of the year.

On Easter Sunday a sunrise service will be held at the home of Ken Binskin at seven a.m. This ecumenical service takes place out of doors.

Easter service will be held at St. Margaret's Anglican Church in Wilberforce at 11 a.m. Service at the United Church takes place at 11:30 a.m. at Tory Hill with special music provided by guest singer Betty Johnson. On May 1, the United Church services will commence at South Wilberforce Church and will continue to be held at 11:30 Sunday mornings.

The Wilberforce A. C. W. ladies held their monthly meeting on April 4 in St. Margaret's church basement. Two colourful, heavy quilts were tied. These will be finished by the members and forwarded to Toronto together with baby garments, cushions, articles for the home and other necessary items collected by Mrs. Sylvia Cameron. They will be sorted into bales and sent to needy families in Northern Canada. General business was discussed by president Eileen Agnew. Plans for the coming rummage sale were completed.

Mrs. Louise Kleist of Walkerton has been paying visits to this area for 20 years. She has become a familiar friend to many. At this time she is staying with her good friend Mrs. Elsie Smith.

cheese at lunch. Lukewarm coffee. Banker who had promised me the loan out to lunch for two hours. Tried to sneak in a quick visit to doctor for allergy shots; and he forgot I was there for an hour.

Late for my appointment to meet car seller. We'd both forgotten to pick up the safety check certificate. Rushed off to the garage, telling car seller and wife to wait for me at licensing bureau.

Arrived at garage breathless, but still time. Nobody home but gas pump jockey. Mechanics out jogging. Jogging! Phoned license bureau to tell short, ill-tempered seller with beard to hang on. They hadn't seen him since I left. Wait 25 minutes. Sweaty, gasping mechanics arrive, sign certificate. Rushed back to license bureau. No sign of car seller, inside or out. Got all papers ready. Waiting, fuming, inside, then outside. "Turkey's probably gone to the bank or something."

At five to five, phoned his apartment. He was there. He and his wife had waited outside the license bureau (not enough brains to stay in and keep warm), had decided I'd changed my mind and wouldn't be back, and were at the moment packing to go to the city for a week. With my car. And the license bureau closed at five.

Tottered home in a daze, expecting the house to be burned down and my wife and informed, or better still go a few times in a party that has a competent guide. 2. A film of basket making in the Maliseet tribe of native Canadians. Husband and wife together immerse themselves in the chore of basket weaving, starting by cutting down a white ash tree that has a good length of straight grain butt. This butt is peeled, then stained as an index to the proper amount of bruising. After the bruising using the back of the axe blade, strips of wood fibre the length of the butt can apparently, readily be taken, processed, sized and stained with ease as these strips are so pliable and limber, and made into the material for weaving baskets. When finished, these baskets are very handsome and strong. That stunt of bruising the white ash to make the fibres separate and pliable was sure new to us.

Saturday afternoon from Mrs. Hazel Gerow of Harcourt, we received a nice packet of coloured pictures that we can make use of in making the wall receptacles presently being made. Thank you kindly Hazel!

In this election campaign, no one has drawn our attention to the accumulation of Crown Corporations in the past 11 years none of which has been passed by parliament. Rather it is done in secret sessions of the cabinet, or the think tank, making Canada one of the big multinationals of the business world. It differs from the others in that the Canadian set up is responsible to no one, and no Canadian is responsible to making them a success. The result is that all of them to date have been losers at the expense of the Canadian taxpayers. The only gainers are the Liberal party. Faithful Mr. Broadbent indicates it is only a pittance compared to what he would do, and seemingly Mr. Clark would sell them all. The gag is still on the Uranium cartel.

OPP report

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the week of April 2 through April 8.

During this period the staff investigated one motor vehicle accident and 69 general occurrences.

Two local families hosted exchange students from Sept Iles, Quebec, recently. Bridget Comteau of Sept Iles spent a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batty and family. Catherine Batty will go to Sept Iles in mid-May for one week. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heffer had as their visitor, Edith Gallant from Sept Iles for one week. Michael Heffer will spend a week there beginning May 11.

Miss Lois Batty leaves for Outlook, Saskatchewan on May 1 to work in a veterinary practice there for the summer months. Lois will return home in August, then it's back to Guelph for her final year and she will have her degree.

The new Bank of Commerce held their official opening ceremony on Saturday, March 24. M.P. Bill Scott, M.P.P. John Eakins and regional bank manager, H. G. Mills, bank manager Joe Heffer and Bexley Township Reeve Everett Cameron were honoured guests. The new bank has about 75 percent more floor space and employs 10 full-time staff and two part-time staff who handle the Kimmount and Kirkfield sub-agencies. The bank here serves a wide area, including Kimmount and Kirkfield. The manager, Joe Heffer has been manager for the past nine years. The bank was established here first as the Home Bank around 1921 or 1922. First Home Bank manager was Mr. George Brabazon who came from Sunderland. Mr. Norval Kyle was the next manager. He later went to Lakefield. The bank was located in the old Queen's Hotel - where Mike's Milk was located last year, property now owned by Bill MacDonald real estate.

Mr. Dick Neivson was the first Commerce manager, about 1932, followed by Mr. by Bud MacKay, Mr. Bill Weber and Mr. Ben Bellamy and lastly Mr. Joe Heffer. Mr. Karl Illini, of Kirkfield, displayed his paintings which you will notice on your left as you enter the bank. These paintings are for sale, and not a permanent fixture of the bank. There is ample parking space, which should help when the summer rush is on. However, much as we appreciate the new bank, nearly all the businesses are on Bexley side of town. John Bryant Insurance Agency is moving from his small Bexley office to the former Dr. Jamieson building along the river in Somerville side. Let's hope the former bank will interest some business person and be put to good use.

Our sympathy to Mrs. Frances Farrow, Marlene and Dwayne in the passing of Lorne Farrow last Saturday. Funeral services were held on Tuesday, April 3 from Faith Tabernacle with interment at Fenelon Falls cemetery.

Guild of Fine Arts News

by Carole McLean

A few weeks ago I wrote about our local crafts people entitled "Made in Haliburton" and the part the Guild of Fine Arts played in supporting these artisans. Since that time I have been fortunate enough to sit in on a meeting dealing with the task of updating our brochure for 1979. To say I was impressed with the number of crafts people on a producing level in Haliburton County would be an understatement. The members of this committee will shortly be contacting each artisan with information about the new brochure and when completed it will be placed around the county at strategic points including the tourist information booth in Haliburton. If you are a crafts person and would like to be included in this brochure call Carole Finn at 457-2404.

Ontario Crafts Council's Central Regional Show
Would you as an interested artisan or Guild member like to attend the show in Barrie, Ontario on Tuesday, May 8? So far 10 members have expressed such an interest and rather than travelling in separate cars, it has been proposed that a bus be obtained for this day. As a bus would hold 48 passengers it would hardly be feasible unless more expressed interest in attending. If you are a Guild member or are interested in viewing the show please call Carole McLean 457-1128 before the end of April. The more attending the less the overall cost will be. Something for local crafts people to keep in mind at this time is that next year the Central Regional Show will be held in Haliburton and it will give them some idea of what the competition will be and what will be expected of them if they plan to enter. So call now.

We are happy to present on Saturday evening, April 21, a dinner/show in the Haliburton Legion Hall. Everyone is invited and the tickets are $15.00 each. "Oh Coward", is a Damar Production of music and words by Noel Coward.

The Playwright
Sir Noel Coward was born and raised in England and was acting in the theatre by the time he was twelve.

Almost as early, he became a composer and lyricist, only to go on to singing, producing, directing, and writing plays shortly thereafter. His success became legends in London's West End and on Broadway. Oh Coward! will introduce or reacquaint thousands of theatregoers to the peculiar genius of this man who with wit, polish, and total sophistication, created a half century style of his own.

The Play
It is the creme of Coward - his music and lyrics, sketches and play excerpts - an evening's entertainment. His lyrics are many things; variously famous, infamous or unknown: witty, charming, sad, funny, devilishly clever, savage, gracious and downright vulgar. Oh Coward, contains such songs as "A Room with a View", "Mad About the Boy", "World Weary", "Someday I'll find You" and "Mad Dogs and Englishmen". These and other songs were selected from the plays "Bitter Sweet, Private Lives, Design for Living, and The Girl Who Came To Supper," among others.

We hope you will support this fund-raising event for our Guild Station Gallery, and enjoy a lovely dinner and entertainment.

Maple Lake News

Deepest sympathy of the whole community goes out to the family and friends of Mrs. Margaret Finny and Murray Barry of West Guilford who passed away within the last week.

Friends of Charlie Fader's will be glad to hear he is recovering from his stroke slowly and has now entered Extensivecare, Haliburton. Glen Lee and his fiancée Carol Hunter of Toronto spent a couple of days with his parents Bert and Pearl Lee.

Bill Langman of Toronto spent the weekend at his cottage here.

Bob and Iris Meredith and family of Toronto spent the weekend at their cottage.

Val and Cheryl Redner and family of Gravenhurst spent Sunday with his parents Earl and Merle Redner.

One day this week I had the opportunity along with little Jerry Griffen to visit Mrs. Wood, who lives along the river near Redstone Lake. While there Jerry and I met the friendliest donkey as well as two baby goats (4 weeks old), their mother plus some other big goats. Mrs. Wood also has many kinds of hens and quinea fowl along with many ducks and geese. The river is ideal for these birds as it stays open nearly all year. We certainly enjoyed seeing the animals and domestic birds. Mrs. Wood very kindly told me to bring my little granddaughter up to see and pet the animals and birds anytime I would like to. So thank you very much Mrs. Wood and you will be seeing us again soon.

Sorry to hear Grace Cowan is in the hospital. Hope you will soon be home again.

Sympathy goes out to family and friends of Maisie Withers who passed away this week. Our community seems to be losing a lot of our senior citizens. We will miss them very much.

and Mr. Ross Limerick. Our tourist friends from Lindsay were at their summer places on Little Monmouth Lake for the weekend; also the Dixie Hunt Club friends were at their camp as were Mr. and Mrs. Piper recently.

Mr. and Mrs. George Westrope visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ball last weekend, also as their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Sinclair and son Robert of Lindsay.

We are thrilled to have a new granddaughter. Her name is Tasha, 7 lbs. 9 1/2 ozs. She arrived Wednesday the 4th. Her proud mom and dad are Bev and Sherry Billings, also, Tina and Andrew, and great grandparents are Mrs. Violet Cowan and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Haas.

Visiting in Guelph for a few days with their daughter Della and Gord, are Mr. and Mrs. Clem Boyd. Then Mrs. Boyd is flying to Vancouver, B.C. for a 3 week holiday with her daughter Jean and family.

Mrs. Elsie Watson has returned home after visiting with friends in Peterborough recently.

Mrs. Gerald Cooper and family of Minden visited with her mom, Mrs. Elsie Watson last week.

Miss Sandra Cowan is spending a few days at her sister's, Mrs. Bev Billings. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Billings of Lindsay spent the weekend at their cottage in Essonville. We understand Ross would like some snow up that way so he could do some shovelling.

Carnarvon News

by Yvonne Penney

Old man winter certainly returned with a vengeance last Thursday and Friday. Eight to ten inches of snow fell with high winds blowing the snow into drifts. Most homes were without power at times while hydro crews worked to restore lines. However, I guess we can consider ourselves lucky as it was much worse in many parts of the province.

The 1st Carnarvon Brownie Pack spent an interesting evening at the Stanhope Firehall last Monday. They were shown procedures followed by the firemen when they receive a call to a fire and were treated to hot dogs and pop by the firemen before they returned home.

The enumeration week is over and if you have been missed, get your name on the voters list right away. You will have to call the returning officer for your riding before the 17th day before election date. There is advance voting from 12 noon until 8 p.m. on the second Saturday before election day and on the Monday and Tuesday immediately preceding election day. If you are disabled, of advanced age or unable to be available to vote on election date, the advanced poll is for you.

Enumerators for the upcoming federal election have been calling on households in the past week. If you have not been contacted, either by phone or in person, check with the enumeration in your area - you can have your name added to the voter's list until May 2.

Our Stanhope librarian, Isabelle Gibbs, has asked me to remind you again that this is forgiveness week, April 2 to April 9.

April is Cancer month. In the Carnarvon area, canvassers, Velda Harrison and Judy Carpenter, will be happy to take your donations for this worthy cause.

Don't forget, the Haliburton County Chapter of the Ontario Association for Children With Learning Disabilities is holding a general meeting Tuesday, April 17 at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall in Haliburton. This should prove to be an interesting meeting as a speech therapist as well as an occupational therapist from the Five Counties Children's Centre will be present to speak on testing and programming of children referred there.

Sympathy of this community is extended to the families of the late Murray Barry of West Guilford and the late Mrs. Bob Withers of Maple Lake.

Mr. Schroter has returned home from hospital, also Mr. Murray McColl.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lind of Brampton were weekend guests with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Boyd were visited over the weekend by their son Ron Dunn.

We sure have been blessed with some beautiful weather, and just being outside and watching those different species of birds that have shown up this past couple of weeks, makes us quite sure that spring has come. For the past couple of years we have had a cute little chipmunk who has only half a tail and last week he came again. He looks like he had a good winter; he is just a fat little guy.

Help the Easter Bunny find the basket of eggs.

Have you ever blown an egg? Ask Mom if you can try.

Equipment:

- 1 raw egg
- 1 sharp needle
- 1 bowl
- felt markers, crayons or coloured pencils
- glue

Steps:

- (1) Carefully make a small hole in the top and bottom of the egg shell. The bottom hole can be a little bigger and break the yolk with needle inside.
- (2) Blow in one hole. While you blow hold it over the bowl so the insides won't make a mess.
- (3) When it's blown empty you can decorate the eggshell with coloured markers or crayons and glue on decorations. You can use scraps of rick rack, lace, beads, sequins, wool or whatever you can think of.
- (4) Scramble the egg with a little milk and you will have a nice Easter breakfast.

Kinmount Klippings

Hi folks! Well, I guess everyone will be hoping that's the end of this winter. I know I do.

I did not run my bus on Friday. I started out as usual and went to Irontide and picked up Betty Bacon had called me earlier to tell me she couldn't be out to meet me at Furnace Falls. anyhow I came on to Kinmount. I don't know if I am losing my nerve or not but after having to stop right in the middle of the highway several times because I could not see where I was going, I called Jack Neville and told him what it was like. I came back to my place and phoned several on my route and told them I would not be going. Anyhow an hour later I had the Irontide children safe at home and so was I. As you all know, it turned out better in the afternoon.

On Saturday, April 7 at Minden in the hockey tournament the Kinmount Seniors won the Coboconk runner-up trophy. The first game Kinmount defeated Cambray 6-1. Goals were scored by John Barkwell - 3, John Dettman - 1, David Austin - 1, and David Hartin - 1. The second game was Kinmount 6 and Bobcaygeon 3 with scoring by John Barkwell - 2, John Dettman - 2, David Austin - 1 and Shawn Silver - 1. The third game Kinmount lost to Ormeil 7-3 with goals by John Dettman - 2, David Hartin - 1. Other players who contributed towards the two wins were goalie, Doug Pearson, John Windrum, David Crego, Roger Hartin, Mike McBride, Peter Pearson and Roland Hamilton. Good work boys.

Visitors with the Joe Crego family over the weekend were Mr. P. J. Mullen, Miss Connie Crego and Mr. Reg Crego and Mr. Malcolm Crego all from Toronto and Miss Bonnie Crego of Woodville.

We are glad to hear Mrs. Georgina Young is home from hospital.

Mrs. Arlene Boxal has

Tom of Iroquois Falls. We extend the sympathy of the community to his family.

And who said winter was over? So, once again on Wednesday night, the night the Seniors meet we have a bad snow storm. Then the next night more snow and a thunder storm, the hydro going off for about an hour and a half. But from reports we hear from other areas we were lucky not to have had anymore damage. There is always something to be thankful for.

moved into town and her son will be going on my bus to Minden school to finish out his year.

Tiny "Tracey Lee" Tebutt died on April 3, 1978 just six days old. Her twin sister "Tanya Lynn" is doing nicely and gaining nearly an ounce a day.

Sincere sympathy to the relatives and friends of Mr. Jack Brandon of Midland who passed away on the weekend. Betty Holdsworth and Irene Magill of Havelock are spending a few days this week with Norman and Bertha Bamford.

Weekend visitors with Ambrose and Clara Watson were their daughters Mrs. Charlene Fountain and Jean and Allan Scarlet all from Oshawa.

Harold and Florence Merritt spent a few days at Arthur, Ontario last week.

The Senior Citizens Club 714 held a very successful tea, bazaar and bake sale Saturday at the Legion Hall. They had two draws and Mrs. Cindy McElwain won the latch hook cushion and Blanche Hancock won the handmade crochet doily.

Miss Marie Simpson won the $15.75 50-50 draw Saturday night at Legion 441 and second week in a row, Bill Lilley won the $20.00 hockey pool.

There were 19 teams at the dart tournament at Coboconk on Saturday. Kinmount had three teams in the running.

There was a good crowd at the Legion Hall Saturday night dancing to the music of "The Country Rollers" of Fenelon Falls. This week they are having "Burnt River Country" playing. They are "Ken", "Jim" and "Charlie" Laver.

Mr. Bert Bowron was in the Minden Red Cross Hospital a few days last week and is home again.

Bye for this week. I hear snow storm warnings on radio. Here we go again.

Lindsay Presbyterial U.C.W. meeting draws more than 200 participants

A very cold March 15 found over 200 United Church women assembled in Queen St. United Church, Lindsay, for the annual meeting of Lindsay Presbyterial under the theme "Year of the Child". They were warmly welcomed by the Queen St. U.C.W. president, Mrs. Phyllis Codlin.

The opening worship on the theme "Feed My Lambs" was conducted by the Oakwood U.C.W. and gave a beautiful start to a challenging day. Bobcaygeon ladies received and dedicated the offering. An In Memoriam Service was led by Haliburton U.C.W. around the thought "Behold I make all things new".

In her president's remarks, Mrs. Margaret Stewart said the past year had been one of learning but a very happy experience. She noted that the Conference Annual U.C.W. meeting would be in our Presbyterial in April and urged all groups to send representatives. It only happens once in seven years. The recipe book of non-alcoholic beverages, being prepared by the Committee on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, will be available at Conference Annual and for spring rallies. Mrs. Stewart thanked all who had helped with the planning of the day and drew attention to the art work around the walls by children of Central School and also the ministry in music of Mrs. Anne Buckley, organist of the church.

Announcement was made of a special "Inter-generational" event to be held at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac in September. After the success of two schools for U.C.W. in 1978, two are planned for 1979 under the theme "Go quickly and tell". The weekend school will be at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac and the mid-week one at Northminster U.C. in Peterborough, both in September. Spring rallies were announced for May 9 at Cameron for Region 3 and May 10 at Sunderland for Region 1.

In the treasurer's report, Mrs. Orlee Wells requested that special donations be made through the Presbyterial treasurer so that a record may be kept.

Mrs. Jean Wilson, president of Cambridge St. U.C.W., extended an invitation for the 1980 annual meeting to be held there.

The president of Conference U.C.W., Mrs. Evelyn Redpath of Oshawa, was introduced and brought greetings. She admonished us to be positive as we go about our church work. She also drew attention to the Conference Annual Meeting in April at Cambridge St. U.C. The moderator of the United Church of Canada will speak on the Tuesday evening, April 3, and the public is welcome to attend. Mrs. Marjory Levan of Alcohol and Drug Concerns Inc., will be a theme leader. Mrs. Redpath also announced that the objective of $10,000, for the Bursary Fund for 1978 had been reached and 49 students were assisted.

Mrs. Margaret Gilson presented the report of the Nominating Committee and the officers were installed by the Rev. L. A. Dorsch, acting Chairman of Presbytery.

Grace was said by the Rev. J. Carbert, minister of Queen St. and the ladies served lunch. The literature table, presided over by Mrs. Marilyn Jackson, was a popular place until time for the afternoon session.

The afternoon got underway with selections from a children's choir from the Leslie Frost School under the direction of Mr. Kenneth McCaughen. Their music was delightful and a fitting introduction to the panel discussion of "The Rights of the Child". Moderator of the panel was Mrs. Helen Ruth, lay representative of the Bay of Quinte Conference to the Division of Mission of Canada. Members of the panel were: Rev. Harold Wilson of Peterborough, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference; Mr. J. Richard Gorwill, Barrister of Lindsay; and Mr. David Parrott, superintendent of schools, Victoria County Board of Education. We were asked to look at the needs and gifts of the children in our midst. Following are some gleanings from the panelists: If children had such an important part in the life of Jesus as they did, why shouldn't they have as important a part in the church today? Children soon know whether they are welcome in the congregation regardless of what you say. The Christian faith is caught not taught. In the area of education, the law says the child has an obligation to attend school from 5-16 and the right to attend until 21. In the trends for the future more stress was seen on special needs, e.g. handicapped; more emphasis on the three R's; more standardization of curriculum. Some of the problems faced in education are: financial restraint, lack of diversity of goals on the part of the public, children are facing more emotional problems today. The thought was expressed that probably 1979 should have been called "The Year of the Family". We cannot think of children outside "the family". Too often in a marriage break-up children are thought of as real estate, the property that must be disposed of. Do we, in the church, make our views heard at the provincial and federal level as it affects family life? Ministers are not the only spokesmen, lay people have a responsibility to speak out. A question period followed and it was suggested that we get children into the church by "bringing them", and providing ingredients of interest to them in the service while they are there. If a whole lot of people in the church will show concern for the 15 year old who doesn't

Farm News & Views

Growing crops is big business - and it's good business to insure against losses due to natural causes beyond your control.

Crop Insurance will guarantee you a certain level of production from your farm. If your actual production is less than your guarantee you would have a claim for the difference. The value of this claim depends on the price you choose.

Crop insurance offers protection from most of the natural hazards you cannot control: hail, wind, frost, flood, drought, insect infestation and disease. In addition, some perils specific to some crops are covered in the individual plans, such as excessive moisture causing sprouting in wheat.

Each individual insured crop has a plan specific to that crop. In that way the characteristics unique to each crop, such as yield levels or prices, may be accommodated.

At the present time there are insurance plans for the following general crops: corn (grain and/or silage), spring grain (oats, barley, mixed grain, spring wheat), soybeans, white beans, coloured beans, flax, new forage seedling, and winter wheat.

Crop Insurance gives you insurance tailored to you and your individual farm. The amount of coverage you can buy is based on your own average farm yield.

Of course, the first year you take out crop insurance, no records are available to use in figuring your average yield. Instead, your "beginning average farm yield" is based on an area average - with an allowance for good management practice.

After the first year, your annual yields are recorded and averaged with your "beginning average farm yield" to establish revised average farm yields. After five years, only your actual production records determine your average farm yield.

Crop Insurance guarantees you a percentage of your average farm yield. You are guaranteed 70 to 80 percent of your average farm yield, depending on whether or not there have been claims paid to you.

If your actual production falls below your production guarantee, you have a claim for the difference. This claim would be paid off at the level of coverage chosen.

On many crops, if it is necessary to reseed three or more acres because of an insured peril, you will be paid the reseeded benefit of $15.00 per acre. This benefit will be paid whether you reseed to the same crop or any other crop.

To cover any one crop, you must insure all the acres that you grow of that crop. However, you may insure only one of several crops if you wish.

You may choose the price option that suits your own needs. The amount of insurance protection you get is determined by the price per bushel coverage you select; for the average farm yield you have; at the percentage guarantee your production record was earned.

The price option is chosen at the time of application or renewal. For the details on the specific price options and premiums that apply to each of your crops, contact: John Starr, RR #1, Woodville, Ont. Phone: Cambray 81-W-4 or Bob Reeds, RR #1, Reabro, Ont. Phone 324-9260. Deadline for application for spring crops is May 1.

Zone F4 Spring Rally of the Royal Canadian Legion was held at Branch 141, Sunderland, Sunday, April 1 with representatives present from all branches. The meeting was opened by Zone Commander, Doug Worrell.

Among the head table guests were Deputy District Commander, Jim Colten, Ontario vice chairman, Action committee, John Maw, Ontario correspondent Legion magazine Hank Pryske, District Commander Merrill Dunn, Branch 141 president Stan Vestby, and Mayor McPhail, of Brock Township.

Mayor McPhail addressed the gathering and said that in the near future Legion as well as the members of other service clubs will become increasingly involved in the work of our municipal governments. There is so much work to be done at the local level and with restraints and cut-backs more work will have to be done on a voluntary basis, he said.

The business of the session was conducted by chairman, John Dayman who called for the branch reports. All branches reported they were in good financial condition

The report of the last zone rally, held at Omemee in October, 1978 was distributed to the delegates and so valuable time was saved as the secretary did not have to read the long report. There were no resolutions presented at this meeting. In his address the District Commander reminded the gathering of the district convention being held at Cobourg, Ontario, April 21 and 22. This is election year and so it is hoped that each branch will send its full complement of delegates. The Ontario Provincial Convention is being held in Sudbury, May 13-17 and any branch not sending delegates is requested to get its proxy votes to a branch sending delegates.

The reports of the zone chairmen were given and the poppy chairman thanked the branches for their efforts in the campaign and asked that each local chairman keep one copy of his report for the branch files and send the remainder to him. The sports chairman gave a report of the year's activities and at the same tendered his resignation. A new sports officer will be appointed in the near future.

At this time an election of officers was held. Zone Commander Doug Worrell, was returned by acclamation. Three comrades were nominated for the office of Deputy Zone Commander. They were comrade Ted Jones, Fenelon Falls, Comrade Murray Wood, Brechin, Comrade Mel Robertson, Haliburton, Mel Robertson, Branch 129, Haliburton was elected on the first ballot. These officers will be installed at the district convention later this month. This concluded the business of the day and Zone Sgt.-at-Arms, Lyle Welch, marched off the colours following the closing ceremony conducted by Comrade Doug Worrell.

A former minister of Anglican churches in Haliburton and Wilberforce died February 17 in Scarborough at the age of 91.

Edward George Robinson, L.Th., B.D., was born January 28, 1888 in Irchester, Northamptonshire, England and spent his youth at Seaford, Sussex.

He came to Canada in 1907, and after working in the West, settled in Brantford where he was a printers devil for the Brantford Express, before entering Wycliffe College. He graduated from Wycliffe in 1915, and was ordained May 30, 1915 at St. Alban's Church.

He married the former Laura M. Pelling of Brantford and travelled to Wilberforce and Haliburton to serve in his first charge.

Former area minister dies at the age of 91 in Pickering

He also served in the parishes of Longford Mills and Atherly, Schomberg, Kettleby and Nobelton, Pickering and Dunbarton, and while in Pickering started services for the workers at the Ajax munitions factory during World War II.

In the fall of 1953, he left St. George's, Pickering, to resume duties as priest in charge of St. Nicholas, Birch Cliff while Bishop Garnsworthy (then incumbent) was in England.

Following the Bishop's return he remained as assistant and latterly honorary assistant until his death.

He spent 63 years in active ministry and on January 28, 1978, celebrated his 90th birthday with a service of thanksgiving and dedication of "Robinson Hall" by the Bishop of Toronto.

The funeral was held February 20 at St. Nicholas Church, with burial in St. George's Cemetery, Pickering.

Senior League

Birthday wishes go out to Zilphia Hie who celebrated her birthday on Friday.

Monday morning's fun and fitness program was enjoyed by all. In the afternoon we had crafts and we also made tea biscuits and fresh maple syrup which was given to us by Lily Rawlins. Boy, was that ever a treat. Thank you Lil.

In the evening we had two films. The first was entitled "Clutch", a film on sculpturing in Ireland. This seems to be a very popular hobby as they carve their own tombstones as well as gateways and on buildings. They are just amazing, and the hours of work that go into these sculptures is just unbelievable. The other film entitled "Lake Odyssey" was filmed along the Trent waterways, showing the harvesting of the millifolin the bottom of the lakes that are choking out native plants and how they are making silage for domestic cattle by mixing molasses for a better taste. The weed is right full of nutrients.

Tuesday morning communion service was conducted by Rev. David Barker from St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden. In the afternoon we took the bus and went up to Carnarvon across to West Guilford and over to Haliburton and back home again.

Wednesday was a regular day of physical activities, crafts in the afternoon and carpet bowling with Percy and Carrie Drysdale in the auditorium, keeping score for the men.

Thursday's afternoon tea party was served by the ladies from Eagle Lake Women's Association. They brought delicious cookies and more goodies which we all enjoyed. We also had a surprise visit from Ray Jenkins who kept us tapping our toes while tea was being served. Thanks to everyone who made it a happy day. In the evening the Kinsmen fellows came out and called our bingo numbers for us. We sure look forward to this too.

Friday afternoon our singing was held in our main lounge with Grace Cobourn leading the singing and yours truly accompanying on the piano. We sure missed our regular pianists, but we all enjoyed the afternoon just the same. I will sign off for now. So long until next week.

want to come to church, he will come. Physical abuse to a child is obvious. Verbal abuse is not obvious but very abusive to a child and a very difficult area to detect. Christian Education training starts with mothers and dads.

Sincere thanks to Mrs. Ruth and the panel was expressed by Mrs. Leola English on behalf of all present.

A very fine annual meeting closed with the courtesy prayer read in unison.

Ministry tests fish

Fishermen who land lake trout over 22 inches long in St. Nora Lake, or walleye over 22 inches long in Lake Kashagawigamog are in for a disappointment if they hope to eat their catch. According to the provincial Ministry of the Environment, the fish contain levels of mercury considered too high to make them safe for human consumption.

The information is contained in a bulletin from the Ministry which lists contaminant levels in fish taken from 111 lakes across the province, including Gull, Kashagawigamog, Little Hawk, Paudash, Red Pine, St. Nora, and Twelve Mile Lakes in Haliburton County.

Under the fish consumption guidelines set up by the Ministry, and published in a booklet entitled, "A Guide to Eating Ontario Sportfish", species designated "A" are suitable for unrestricted consumption. Those listed as "B" can be eaten 10 times in a week for one week, or five times a week for two weeks, three times a week for three weeks, or three times a month if eaten over a period of more than three weeks.

People who fish on and off for part of the year exceeding three weeks are considered long term consumers by the Ministry. As well, women of child bearing age and children under 15 years of age should eat only fish that fall in the "A" category under the testing program.

For Gull Lake in Lutterworth Township, Lake Trout, Smallmouth Bass and Large-mouth Bass up to 18 inches long fall in the "A" category. Largemouth Bass between 18 and 22 inches long are designated "B". No larger fish from the lake were found for testing.

Walleye from Kashagawigamog are rated "A" up to 18 inches long, "B" up to 22 inches long, and unsuitable for consumption if larger than 22 inches.

Smallmouth Bass from the lake are rated "A" up to 14 inches long, and "B" up to 22 inches long, with no larger fish of the species caught.

Whitefish from the lake are suitable for unrestricted consumption.

Only Lake Trout were tested from Little Hawk Lake, and these were found to be suitable for unrestricted consumption up to 22 inches long.

Up to 30 inches, they fall in the "B" category, with no larger fish of the species tested.

Walleye and Smallmouth Bass were tested from Paudash Lake. Walleye were rated "A" up to 18 inches, "B" up to 22 inches, and "C" if between 22 and 22 inches long. The Smallmouth Bass tested out at "A" up to 14 inches, and at "B" up to 22 inches long, with no larger fish caught.

Both Smallmouth Bass and Lake Trout from Red Pine in Sherborne Township were found to be suitable for unrestricted consumption.

Lake Trout from St. Nora Lake were rated "A" to 14 inches, "B" from 14 to 18 inches, "C" from 18 to 22 inches, and unsuitable for consumption of larger.

Smallmouth Bass from St.

Nora were rated "A" up to 14 inches and "B" if larger.

Lake Trout from Twelve Mile Lake were rated "A" up to 14 inches long, "B" up to 26 inches, and "C" if larger.

Smallmouth Bass from the lake are given an "A" designation by the Ministry if they are less than 18 inches long and "B" from 18 to 22 inches, with no larger fish available for testing.

More information on the testing program and the guide books, is available from the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Mrs. Reeds and Mrs. E.

The Burnt River Women's Institute had a Daffodil Tea on Wednesday, March 28 in the St. Luke's Parish Hall.

Mrs. Ada Handley welcomed the visitors at the door. The president, Mrs. John Blackmore opened the tea. Everyone sat down to a dainty lunch.

While having tea, Mrs. O. Carew, district president and Mrs. A. Gillis, district secretary-treasurer answered all questions asked, pertaining to the work of Women's Institute.

Mrs. Reeds and Mrs. E.

Hughes operated a penny sale which was a spot of interest.

Mrs. O. Carew cut the "Daffodil Cake".

Mrs. R. Oliver, district curator, was in attendance. She gratefully answered all the questions asked on district and branch Tweedmuir Histories. On display were The District and Burnt River Tweedmuir Books, along with the History of Burnt River written in 1977 by the children.

Easter fun

by Jane Selbie

It's Easter in the special year of the child. Why not make it really magical for your children.

There are lots of things the family can do to make it a time to remember. Blowing and decorating eggs is an old time favourite that brings out the creativity in every child.

An Easter egg hunt can be given a new twist by providing poetic clues to find each jelly bean egg. Depending on the weather it is a real adventure to have the hunt outside. Here's a few sample clues:

The Easter bunny thought it funny so he put eggs near the money (by the piggy bank).

Up the stairs and down the hall, under a sleep place, there's fun for all (under a bed).

Now you little folks must scamper, a dirty place, the clothes

You'll have fun creating clues suitable to the age of your child. Start with one clue leading to the first egg and then place the next clue at the first hiding place.

If it's a sunny day you might like to go for a nature hike. You can look for signs of spring, animal tracks in the snow or birds.

If you anticipate poor weather you might like to buy a puzzle or quiz book for older children. They will enjoy it not only Easter day but for many days to come.

Use your imagination and make it a special day. Remember it is the year of the child and one of the United Nations listed rights in the declaration is "the right to full opportunity for play and recreation."

Licence fees increased changes, the three-day licence would still remain in effect.

The reason for considering such a change in the licence scheme stems from a very serious problem which is particularly prevalent in areas near the American border, Auld said. There is a fairly large segment of American anglers who fish frequently in Ontario and yet spend very little in this province as they bring most supplies with them or come for a few hours by car or boat. With the existing licence scheme, these anglers could theoretically catch hundreds of fish throughout the year winter and summer and yet only spend $10.75 (the licence fee), the Minister said.

Ontario's fish resource is costing the taxpayers several millions annually for management. The Ministry believes the users of the resource should pay a fairer share of the costs of managing the resource, Auld said.
